To whom it may concern:

I am writing to recommend Evan Villegas for the MBS PhD program program at Rutgers University. Evan was enrolled in the 694:395 Biochemistry for Life Sciences course at Rutgers University. This is a rigorous, upper-division course that emphasizes foundational and applied principles of biochemistry as they pertain to biological systems. This is a material dense and demanding course, having earned a grade of B+ demonstrates impressive determination and problem-solving skill.

During the semester, Evan consistently demonstrated a strong grasp of the course material and performed well on assessments, including exams and written assignments. Their work reflected both diligence and competence in a subject that requires a high level of critical thinking and attention to detail. They were well-prepared for class and engaged meaningfully with the curriculum.

Based on their academic performance in my course, I believe Evan is well-equipped to succeed in future academic or professional endeavors that require a solid background in biochemistry and the life sciences.

Please feel free to contact me at villegas@dls.rutgers.edu if you require any additional information.

Sincerely,

Dr. Gabe Villegas
